

Applied Cognition Note 6: Heuristics Diary

Due: Tuesday, November 17 at 11:59 PM

Value: 15 points

Format: 500-700 word analysis

Purpose

Distinguish availability, representativeness, anchoring, and base-rate neglect in naturally occurring judgments.

Your task

- For three days, record six low-stakes judgments immediately after making them. Do not include private medical, financial, legal, or relationship decisions.
- For each entry, record the judgment, evidence noticed, initial confidence, and information ignored or unavailable.
- Classify three entries using different heuristics and defend each classification against one plausible alternative.
- Select one entry and show how a base rate, comparison class, or independent estimate could improve the decision.

Submit

- One PDF containing the six-entry diary table and 500-700 word analysis.

Grading criteria

Criterion	Pts	Full-credit evidence
Accurate concept	4	Uses the assigned cognitive concept accurately and precisely.
Concrete evidence	4	Documents specific observations or examples rather than general impressions.
Analysis	5	Connects evidence to a defensible explanation and acknowledges a limitation.
Clarity and attribution	2	Meets length, organization, and citation expectations.

Submission standards

Upload a readable PDF unless the handout specifies another format. Include your name, course code, and assignment title. Cite borrowed ideas and retain the editable source file. The learning portal timestamp is the official submission time.
